

CONFERENCE

VOLUNTEERING FOR EUROPEAN CULTURAL HERITAGE

Volunteering for Heritage – Acting together in Europe

International Cultural Centre, Kraków / Poland
November, 27th and 28th, 2019

The annual Volunteering for European Cultural Heritage conference is jointly organised this year by the National Heritage Board of Poland, European Heritage Volunteers, the International Cultural Centre Kraków and Fundacja Chronić Dobro.

As the final event of the 2019 European Heritage Volunteers Programme and the 2019 edition of the "Together for Heritage" programme of the National Heritage Board of Poland, the conference will showcase the importance of volunteering as an appropriate tool for awareness raising, documentation, rescue, and preservation of cultural heritage, as well as for non-formal heritage education.

The conference will serve as a platform to present examples of good practice, exchange experiences, and to stimulate further heritage volunteering projects across Europe.

Examples of good practice in heritage volunteering within Poland and across Europe will illustrate the potential of cultural heritage volunteering. These examples demonstrate the applicability of volunteering for various types of heritage and various heritage-linked tasks, as well as different constellations of cooperation between non-governmental organisations, public authorities, and other stakeholders active in the field of heritage.

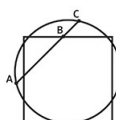

The conference will gather representatives from organisations, institutions and initiatives which have either organised or plan to organise projects in heritage volunteering and heritage education, as well as representatives of state authorities, heritage administrations, and citizens with personal experience in volunteering for heritage. A special focus will be placed on projects directed at young adults, students, and young professionals.

Conference languages are English and Polish. Participation is free of charge.
Applications requested till November, 11th, 2019.
